

April 5, 2006

Mr Gruenberg,

With Walmarts long history of not providing benifits or good pay to employees, what kind of personel do you think they will attract? Would you want a mininum wage earning person with no health insurence watching over your money? Walmart also has a history of doing things like not providing birth control if the pharmacy has religious problems with that. What if they had problems with a local business, that went against Walmarts corporate beliefs, would they withhold loans from them? There are so many reasons why Walmart running a bank is a bad idea , I hope you think hard before allowing it to happen, we don't shop at Walmart anymore, (Not inthe last 5 years) since we learned how they do business...

Edward Burkhart